After 25 years, you continue to persevere as federal employees. But we never forget.

On April 19, 1995, 168 people were killed and more than 500 were injured when a bomb exploded outside the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City. Many of the victims were federal employees.

Every year since 1995, NTEU has marked this somber anniversary. We remember the victims now and always.

It is with heavy hearts that we mourn the lives lost. At the same time, NTEU has great pride and gratitude in representing you—the federal employees who carry on their legacies through your incredible work.

Every day, NTEU members provide public services that are indispensable to our country. But in dark and daunting times like these, that is when you really shine for the American people. They rely on you, and you are always there for them, even as you personally face unchartered challenges at home and at work. You are an example of America at its best, and an enduring tribute to those who lost their lives 25 years ago today.

The passage of time will never extinguish the pain of loss, but our resilience and sense of purpose are stronger than ever.

Thank you again for everything you do for our country.
