(8)		No generally required additional documentation

NOTE: In addition to the above generally required documentation requirements, IRS is authorized to request supplemental information, explanations, or certifications from an employee if IRS has reason to believe that EPL is not being used appropriately. Once an employee has met the generally required documentation requirements described above, the IRS may grant conditional approval of EPL. However, IRS may deny EPL based on an IRS determination that an employee's justification for the leave is not supported by the documents submitted or any other available facts. If the IRS questions the validity or adequacy of the employee's justification, the employee must have an opportunity to provide documentation or further supplement their response to the IRS before EPL is denied. The IRS may conditionally approve use of EPL pending receipt of supplemental documentation and other information as required under the first sentence of this NOTE; however, it must ensure that the employee understands their obligation to resolve the overpayment of leave if the IRS's final decision is to deny the leave.

Privacy Act Notice: We ask for the information on this form to administer COVID-19 EPL under Section 4001 of the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (Pub. L. 117-2), enacted March 11, 2021. This Act and 5 USC Section 301 authorize us to collect this information. This form is provided for your convenience; its use is voluntary. You are not required to apply for EPL; however if you do apply, you must provide the information requested on this form. We use this information to determine your eligibility for EPL.
