ADDITIONAL THREATS WE'RE WATCHING

Senator Rick Scott (R-FL), Chair of the National Republican Senatorial Committee, proposed an agenda for Republicans to enact should they win Senate and House majorities this fall, which includes:

- Reducing the government workforce by 25 percent over five years;
- Slashing the IRS workforce and funding for the agency by 50 percent;
- Setting 12-year term limits on all "government bureaucrats," except when required by national security;
- Letting the private sector take over many activities currently performed by federal workers;
- Eliminating "truly non-essential government employee positions";
- Forced relocation of federal employees out of Washington, DC.
- Capping federal employee pay;
